

Greetings from Ghana #50
In the Rearview Mirror

It seems better communication might help prevent some situations.

And prompt action will prevent others.

Despite the thorns, Ghana has a great resource that will always be what I see in my mind's eye when I consider it. . . it's people, my friends.

Everything they need, they have. I wish and pray that they find their way to a stronger future with better leaders.